

ABSTRACTA filter for the removal of substances from blood products

A filter for the removal of substances from blood product has a porous element of a polymeric material consisting of a polyether-ester copolymer or of a polymer blend comprising said copolymer.